King Sets A New Mark In High Hurdles

Waterloo Athlete Runs Tall Timbers In 15.1 To Shave One-Tenth Of Second From Record

Ralph King of Waterloo ran the 120-yard high hurdles at Memorial stadium Saturday afternoon in 15.1 seconds to set a new state record. King's time was one-tenth of a second better than the 15.2 seconds performance by Herman Taylor of Kearney in 1936.

King, who is competing as a Class D finalist, has bettered the state mark several times in regional tournaments. Only achievements at the annual state tournaments however, are recognized on Nebraska record books. King ran against a slight south breeze and officials allowed his time.

There was a good crowd in the stands to witness the track and field competition between the survivors of an original field of 700 prep school athletes.

New Discus Mark.

Howard Debus, all-around athlete from Lincoln high, set the state mark with the new light discus when he twirled the platter out 153 feet, 3½ inches. This was over 13 feet farther than the best spin Brock of Columbus could give it. Debus and Charles Hoffman picked off second and first places in the shot for the Links. Hoffman got 48 feet, 8½ inches, and Debus was just 2½ inches behind his teammate.

Results were as follows:

CLASS A.

Broad Jump.

Won by Morris, Scottsbluff, 22 feet, 5 inches; Taylor, Lexington, second, 21 feet, 7¼ inches; Bridges, Omaha Tech, third, 21 feet, 1¼ inches; Carrico, Norfolk, third, 20 feet, 9 inches.

Budd Feels Congress Likely Pass 3 Bills Greatly Aiding Railroads; Says Business Up Past 4 Months

President Ralph Budd of the Burlington said in Lincoln Saturday he believes there is good possibility of congressional action on three railroad proposals this session.

Wheeler's omnibus bill, which would put all forms of transportation under the ICC jurisdiction, he said, has met little opposition.

The bill to repeal the land grant rates and the bill to provide for the government paying costs incidental to altering bridges over streams which the war department is making navigable, will also probably be passed.

While these don't reach the heart of the railroad problem, Mr. Budd said, they will give the carriers some relief. He considers them to be important.

Mr. Budd, with Vice-President Ed Flynn, is going to Edgemont to meet Arthur Curtis James, said to be the largest holder of railroad securities in the country. James has been in the northwest, and will come through Lincoln tomorrow night.

Business, Mr. Budd said, has shown improvement during the past four months, due largely to coal shipments. He said the summer travel probably will hold up to expectations.

Move Will Be Made To Slash Big Farm Bill

Economy Advocates Will Renew The Campaign On Record - Breaking Agriculture Fund

WASHINGTON, May 13—(AP)—House economy advocates promised today to renew their campaign to slash the agriculture department appropriation bill, which carried a record-breaking sum of $1,218,666,572 as approved by the senate yesterday.

Another struggle over the economy issue was foreshadowed by the proposal of Senator Adams (D-Colo) that congress blanket appropriations for the next fiscal year with a reduction order designed to save at least $250,000,000.

Adams said he would offer some definite formula to reduce federal spending, once congress has completed work on major appropriation bills.

House democratic leaders reported they were undecided as to whether they would oppose the increases inserted in the farm bill by the senate. Before the measure goes to the white house the differences between house and senate must be reconciled.

Limited By House.

When it acted on the bill in March, the house limited it to $835,000,000, refusing by a 9-vote margin to provide $250,000,000 for parity payments and add $60,000,000 to help dispose of agricultural surpluses. The parity payments would be designed to increase the farm purchasing power represented in cotton, wheat, corn, rice and tobacco to the pre-war level.

The senate added $225,000,000 for parity and $113,000,000 for the removal program, before passing the bill, 61 to 14.

The measure includes a $500,000,000 allocation for soil conservation payments, $225,000,000 for parity payments, $113,000,000 for removal of crop surpluses, about $200,000,000 for the federal-aid road program, and funds for other regular activities of the agriculture department.

House debate, which probably will be deferred several weeks, may revive the controversy over the feasibility of the present farm program, which is based on subsidies for soil conservation practices, marketing quotas and loans.

Will Overcome Obstacles.

Chairman Jones (D.-Tex.) of the house agriculture committee, and others who uphold the program, contend it will overcome all obstacles that have developed in the last 15 months if sufficient funds are appropriated.

Republicans—and some democrats—reply that no allocation will be great enough to justify the production control the program carries. Reps. Lemke (R.-N.D.), Massingale (D.-Okla.) and others advocate instead a scheme of price-fixing designed to guarantee the farmer a return equal to his production costs.

An administration official privately expressed the view that it would seem unreasonable for congress to order a blanket reduction in items which it already had approved individually and after careful study.

Economy advocates argued, on the other hand, that such a method offered the only means of effecting any savings at all in a congress now seemingly headed toward a new high record of funds appropriated.

Johnson Reports More Americans Buying Insurance

National President Is Heard By Nebraska Underwriters

Americans are constantly becoming more conscious of the need of looking forward to retirement, after which time they should continue their contributions to their communities and the nation as a whole, more than 200 insurance men were told by Holgar J. Johnson of Pittsburgh, Pa., president of the national association, in an address at the annual convention of the Nebraska Life Underwriters at the Lincoln hotel Saturday.

The convention opened during the forenoon when the election of officers was held, and reports of the retiring officials were given. Len Davis of Lincoln was elected president, and Dwight Evans, also of Lincoln, secretary-treasurer. The vice presidents are John Laflin, Omaha; John Diesel, Fremont; W. S. Hofgard, Scottsbluff. The elected officers and the past presidents make up the board of directors.

Security Laws An Aid.

As Americans become more conscious retirement is a need, they are buying more annuities, and other similar forms of life insurance policies, National President Johnson told his listeners. This has come about through the enactment of the social security laws.

This condition, the speaker emphasized, has thrown a responsibility upon the life insurance salesman. People have come to believe what the salesman tells them about life insurance, therefore the salesman must see that the attitude toward the future continues because it is forming a trend.

Answers Question.

Asking "Why do the people of America believe so thoroughly in life insurance," the speaker answered his own question, saying:

"Americans believe in the trustee attitude, and life insurance companies are merely the trustees of the money they handle until the time comes to pay it out, either at death or on a policy providing for annuities.

Huge Sum Paid Out.

"In recent years insurance companies have paid out 23½ billion dollars to policy holders which was their own money. And it was paid in an emergency. Last year of this $2,600,000,000 was paid, $1,625,000,000 going to living policy holders."

This big amount, the speaker pointed out, would construct three Panama canals or 24 Golden Gate bridges.

Life insurance is the most important factor in the lives of Americans, the speaker said. Sixty-four million people own 110 billion dollars in insurance.

"Therefore it is the further responsibility of the salesman to give his best efforts to the end that the public knows more about life insurance. Seventy per cent of all the insurance owned in the world is owned in America, which is only 7 per cent of the world's population. The average for the nation, however, is not as large as it sounds, since it is only $1,700 per policy."

15 Of 21 Mine Groups Signed Up By Lewis

Six Southern Groups Of Operators Reject Union Shop Contract; Mining To Start Monday

TROOPS TO MOBILIZE.

FRANKFORT, Ky., May 13—(AP)—Orders for 557 Kentucky national guardsmen to mobilize in Harlan county Sunday to enable coal mines to resume operations were issued today.

The formal order came after Gov. A. B. Chandler had declared the troops would go on a "peaceful mission," and referring to John L. Lewis, C.I.O. and U.M.W. head, said, "no one can tell our people to work or not to work and no one can come into this state and cause trouble."

No Change In Pay.

NEW YORK, May 13—(AP)—Fifteen of the 21 bituminous coal associations in the Appalachian joint conference today signed a union shop contract with John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers of America (C.I.O.) making possible the return to work of 300,000 miners on Monday.

Six southern groups of operators withdrew from the conference which covers an eight-state area, but several companies within the southern area went along with the operators who signed.

The dissenting groups, whose spokesman was L. C. Gunter, employ about 45,000 miners and produce about 45,000,000 tons a year. Gunter declined to say whether the mines would try to open on a non-union basis.

The contract replaces one which expired March 31 and will run for a two-year period. Save for the union shop clause which had proved the principal barrier, there

State Insurance Audit Complete

Shows "Clean Bill" But 3 Policy Suggestions Are Made

An audit of the records of the department of insurance, completed by the state auditor's office, showed a "clean bill of health" Saturday. It was made by L. C. Opper, accountant, who commented on the bookkeeping being well and accurately kept.

Opper, however, made three recommendations for future policy:

1. That the department issue receipts for all items of income.
2. That record be kept of all disbursements in addition to the record maintained at the office of the tax commissioner.
3. That a check be made on securities deposited to show that the value of the securities have not depreciated below the amount of the statutory requirements.

Four Year Period.

The audit, which was made at the suggestion of the insurance probe committee, covered the period from July 1, 1935 to March 1, 1939. It showed an unexpended balance of $187,905.91 on March 1, which represented both cash (fees) and fixed appropriation.

The audit stated that during the time involved $2,436,979.26 represented income and fees collected. Agents licenses accounted for $172,376.58; premium taxes amounted to $2,101,559.54; annual statement fees, $57,114.32; fees collected through the bureau of securities, $30,386.03; admission fees, $3,192.30; brokers certificates, $1,648; fees from various counties as cost of examinations, $65,598.06; and miscellaneous fees, $5,104.43.

Securities deposited with the department by domestic companies amounted to $4,001,353.03, the audit disclosed, of which approximately $2,173,000 were described as "negotiable."

KING'S SHIP AGAIN HALTED BY HEAVY FOG

Royal Party Will Arrive Day Late; Canadian Schedule Revised

ABOARD EMPRESS OF AUSTRALIA, May 13—(Canadian Press)—Fog again halted the Empress of Australia today and it appeared the liner, carrying King George and Queen Elizabeth on their visit to Canada and the United States, would be a day late in reaching Quebec.

The Empress was fogbound in the iceberg zone 250 miles east of Cape Race, Newfoundland, and 1,080 miles from Quebec.

(In Ottawa Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced that the royal visit to the Canadian capital, scheduled for May 17-20, would be shortened by one day because of the liner's delay.

Will Arrive Day Late.

(He said the king and queen would reach Quebec Tuesday instead of Monday.

(The program arranged for Quebec Monday, he said, will take place Tuesday and the Montreal program, originally scheduled for Tuesday, will be held Wednesday.

(A state dinner to have been held at Ottawa Wednesday night will be held Thursday night and the parliamentary dinner planned for Thursday night will be given Friday night.)

Surrounded by icebergs that could not be seen from her fog-shrouded decks, the vessel was almost helpless to make westward progress. Most of the time even the nearby escort cruisers, Glasgow and Southampton, were invisible from the liner.

Trapped by Fog.

She had one good run about 7 a. m., C. S. T., when the fog lifted partially. She immediately speeded ahead, but within 20 minutes the fog came down again and she had to stop.

Fog has swirled about the gleaming white liner almost continuously since early Thursday and the vessel was able to proceed little more than 150 miles.

Yesterday she covered less than 60 miles and last night the Empress started and stopped frequently, her whistle continuously sounding fog signals.

Californian Warned To Cease Publishing Book About Hitler

George Palmer Putnam . . . abducted . . . warned

Late Miss Earhart's Mate Left Bound In Incompleted House By Two German Speaking Men

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., May 13—(AP)—Bound and gagged, George Palmer Putnam, 52, Hollywood publisher and husband of the late Amelia Earhart, was found in an incompleted house here today, a few hours after he was kidnaped from his North Hollywood home.

Putnam, unhurt, said the kidnapers demanded the name of the author of the anonymous book "The Man Who Killed Hitler" and suggested it would be "healthier" if he ceased printing it.

A statewide search for the pair and for Putnam's car, in which they brought him here, was ordered by Sheriff's deputies.

Two department of justice agents from Los Angeles sped here to question the publisher, but declined to discuss the case.

"They were very decent to me," Putnam declared. "They didn't rough me at all."

Refuses Demands.

The publisher said he refused their demands and recalled ruefully that he had "thought the other warnings were phonies." Receipt of a bullet-ridden copy of the book, two letters and a telephone call threatening his life were reported to Los Angeles police within the past month and on one occasion he fired two shots at a man who was climbing a tree near his bedroom window.

"I'm a little upset, but I'm not hurt," Putnam said as he sat in the sheriff's office here.

Then he described the events of last night.

"About 5 o'clock," he recalled, "my secretary, (Miss Josephine Berger) received a telephone call supposed to have come from Rex Cole (Hollywood actor's agent and close friend of Putnam).

"The caller said Cole had an important matter to discuss and wanted me to come to his home. Shortly before 7:30, I walked into the garage. There two men jumped on me and pushed me into the car.

"They blindfolded me and tied my hands. We drove for about an hour. They conversed between themselves in German, but both spoke English, one fluently and in an educated way. I asked them what they wanted and reminded them that kidnaping was a serious offense.

"They said they wanted to know the man who had contributed to the Hitler book from the German end. I told them I didn't know and stuck to that story.

"Finally they stopped the car. One

Creighton Prep And Central In Baseball Finals

The Creighton Prep nine won the right to meet Omaha Central in the high school baseball finals at 3:30 Saturday afternoon by winning 7-5 from Lincoln high in a morning game. A six-run blast in the second inning featured Creighton's play.

Although Sheffert of Lincoln held the Omaha club to five hits the Benson team played errorless ball.

Omaha Central reached the finals by trouncing Millard 10 to 0. The contest was called at the end of the sixth frame as the Omahans had built up a sufficient total. Beltzer, the Central pitcher, allowed but two safe hits.

Pimlico Track Soaked By Rain

PIMLICO RACE COURSE, Baltimore, May 13—(AP)—This cushiony racing strip grew heavier hourly today as a steady rain continued to fall with no sign of a let-up as the day wore on toward the 49th running of the Preakness stakes about 4:15 p. m., C. S. T.

By noon, the rain had soaked the track into a sticky condition, and gave signs of turning it completely into mud long before Johnstown and his five challengers for 3-year-old glory go to the post in this rich mile-and-three-sixteenth test.

As the track grew heavier, the odds on W. L. Brann's mud-running Challedon dwindled somewhat. He finished six lengths back of Johnstown in the Kentucky derby a week ago on a fast track, but is noted especially for his ability to step in the mire. Johnstown, top-heavy favorite with his entry mate, Gilded Knight, opened in the books this morning at 1 to 5 while Challedon was held at 8-1. As the rain showed no sign of a let-up, however, Challedon was knocked down to about 6 to 1.

Johnstown's stablemate, Challenge, was withdrawn.

Trial Date Set On Gage Electric Case

Hearing on the good faith of the Gage County Electric corporation in filing a petition for reorganization was set down for May 29 by Judge Munger Saturday.

The corporation filed the reorganization under chapter 10 of the bankruptcy act last Monday. An answer was filed Wednesday by The First Trust company as trustee under the first mortgage bonds, objecting to approval of the petition.

The trustee stated in the objection that the corporation cannot reorganize successfully, and that there is no possibility of accomplishing any plan.

Two Intervening Groups.

Filing an answer Saturday, the petitioning company challenged the objection. Judge Munger said an issue of fact had been raised, and set it for trial.

Asking to intervene were the Worthington Pump and Machinery company, which stated in a filing by Attorney R. C. VanKirk that it held a claim of $32,000 for leased machinery, and the Continental National bank, trustee under the second mortgage bonds.

Norris Opposed To War Referendum

WASHINGTON, May 13—(AP) —Senator Norris, who fathered a constitutional amendment abolishing "lame duck" sessions of congress, expressed opposition to another proposed change in the constitution — the war referendum measure.

Norris said he doubted that the prosposal, calling for a vote of the people before American soldiers could be sent to fight in a foreign war, would aid materially in keeping this country out of armed conflict.

"I can't help but think that in the World war the country was worse than congress" said the Nebraskan, the only member remaining who cast a senate vote against war in 1917. "I know a good many men in congress in 1917 who wanted to vote against war but their people demanded that they vote for it."

While Norris' criticism reflected strong opposition to the referendum resolution within the senate judiciary committee, Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.,) expressed a conflicting view.

"If this resolution is intended to require a national referendum before any authoritative military intervention in foreign affairs could be undertaken, it sounds satisfactory to me," O'Mahoney told reporters.

On the other hand, Senator Burke said he believed the proposal was "wholly unwise and altogether impractical."

"I think it is futile as a means of keeping us out of war and I shall oppose it vigorously," he added.

Among the prominent railroad men who attended were J. J. Pelley, president of the American Association of Railroads; Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad; M. W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania railroad; Charles W. Brown, president of the Western Maryland railroad; W. Averill Harriman, chairman, William Jeffers, president, and Frank Robinson, vice president, of the Union Pacific.

Girl Who Married Her Stepfather Follows Mother In Suicide

HOUSTON, Tex., May 13—(AP)—A young woman who succeeded her mother in wedlock followed her in suicide, leaving a verse saying "she had never learned to pray."

Justice Tom Maes returned a verdict of suicide by poison in the death yesterday of Mrs. Ilyne Willis, 18.

Found near the body was a neatly-written verse which told of a mind in turmoil because "she could not ask God to help her out—for she had never learned to pray."

Maes said the young woman married her stepfather, D. F. Willis, 47, Aug. 16, 1938. Her mother committed suicide by poison Feb. 16, 1938.

BODY OF SULCER IS SENT TO ILLINOIS

SIDNEY, Neb., May 13—(AP) —The body of James W. Sulcer, 42-year-old salesman who killed himself Thursday when officers cornered him, was sent to Sesser, Ill., where his mother and four brothers live. Two other brothers live at Denver.

Doctors said Sulcer's 14-month-old son, rescued in a hail of gunfire by Sheriff W. W. Schulz after the father held him hostage eight hours in a barricaded farmhouse room, suffered no ill effects from tear gas used to cover the officer's rescue efforts.

The sheriff's men surrounded the house after Sulcer slightly wounded Mrs. Richard Keefe, his sister-in-law, during a domestic quarrel.

Beef Purchase From Argentina Irks Senators

Westerners Would Stop Navy From Using Any But U. S. Meat

WASHINGTON, May 13—(AP) —President Roosevelt's announcement that he had ordered the navy to buy canned corned beef from Argentina led western senators to redouble their efforts today to obtain legislation banning such purchases.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) and Rep. Scrugham (D-Nev) already have introduced an amendment to the pending navy appropriation bill which would prevent the navy from using any but United States beef.

Mr. Roosevelt told reporters yesterday that he had written Secretary Swanson authorizing acceptance of an Argentine bid of 15 cents a pound, including duty of 6 cents a pound, on 48,000 pounds of canned beef. The net cost to the government thus would be 9 cents a pound, compared to bids from domestic producers of 23 cents.

Superior In Quality.

Furthermore, Mr. Roosevelt said the Argentine beef was far superior in quality.

Although the president confined his discussion to price and quality, senators recalled that beef importations had been an important topic in discussions of ways to improve relations with Latin-America.

Imports of fresh beef from the Argentine are forbidden in this country on the grounds that the hoof-and-mouth disease exists in the South American nation. Secretary Hull negotiated a sanitary convention with the Argentine government in 1936 which would permit shipments from areas not affected with the cattle disease. The treaty has been bottled up in the senate foreign relations committee, and western senators have opposed its ratification.

Temperatures Rise To Warmer Levels

Light rains fell in western Nebraska Friday but expected moisture failed to materialize in the eastern half of the state during the night. Saturday skies were clear and temperatures were mounting to warmer levels after a week of chilly readings.

In Lincoln the low was 41 at 6 a. m. and at 8 a. m. it was 54. The high Friday was 65 at 4 and 5 p. m. The rain totals included Cheyenne. 26, North Platte .18, Sidney .14, Valentine .11, Chadron .06 and Burwell a trace. The Burlington reported light showers between McCook and Hastings.

Musicians Of Nebraska Win

Take Places In Regional School Tourney, Colorado Springs

COLORADO SPRINGS, May 13—(AP)—True tones were at more of a premium than fancy footwork today as large high school bands at the ninth region national music competition festival tried to outdo each other in playing Schubert's unfinished symphony.

Competition between glee clubs, orchestras and bands from Class A high schools—those with more than 750 students—today winds up the three day festival that has brought nearly 7,000 students here from as far as Missouri and Iowa.

Music was only incidental last night when 13 bands and 16 drum majors competed for maneuvering and twirling honors. The best Class A school band in the maneuvering contest was Red Oak, Ia., winner four years straight.

"Stick artists" who received the 1 rating in twirling included Jack Barnes, Hastings, Neb.

Those rated 2, or "superior," included Helen Richardson, Red Oak, Ia.; Bucky Steele, Scottsbluff, Neb., and Percy Leonard, Alliance, Neb.

Class B bands, orchestras and choral groups, from schools of 250 to 750 enrollment, competed yesterday for 1-2-3 musical ratings — highly superior, superior and excellent. Results included:

Anderson Tells Need of Teaching Self - Reliance

Schoolmasters Addressed By Minnesotan: Elect Dr. Morton As Head

Self-reliance is a vital factor in democratic life and should be nourished carefully by America's educational system, Dr. John E. Anderson, director of the child welfare institute at the University of Minnesota, told members of the Nebraska Schoolmasters' club Friday evening.

"Democracy," Dr. Anderson observed, "is built on the theory of self-propelling individuals. Totalitarian states are producing individuals who are emotionally immature because they are dependent on the will of a leader. Our tendency is toward independence and self-reliance."

DR. W. H. MORTON

This nation's educational system, he said, should be geared to "produce adults who have developed internal sanctions for socially desirable behavior."

Must Consider Future.

To start children on such an educational route, Dr. Anderson asserted the school program must be carefully balanced, carefully planned. "You can't," he said, "build a school program entirely in the terms of a child's interests. You have to consider the future responsibilities he will encounter and realize that his interests change. A good curriculum for children will take a broad point of view and should provide variety of interests and activities. But it must also provide for depth—the child must build up a mastery in some area x x x without it he tends to make improper adjustments."

Dr. Anderson spoke at the annual banquet of the club at the Cornhusker hotel attended by 200 schoolmen and their wives from all sections of the state.

The Schoolmasters named Dr. W. H. Morton of the University of Nebraska president to succeed J. R. Bitner of Fullerton. O. H. Bimson of Lincoln, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Name Committees.

Committees elected by the business session, attended by nearly 70 state schoolmen were as follows:

Membership—J. G. Hansen, Fremont; Ralph G. Brooks, Wymore; Earl Wiltse, York; Paul Seidel, Wahoo.

Auditing—Dr. G. O. Fuchs, Lincoln; A. E. Folsom, Lincoln.

Bitner presided over the banquet which was attended by 194 schoolmen and their wives, at the Cornhusker hotel. A musical program and introduction of guests preceded the speaking and business session.

Many Enjoy Concert By Grieg Chorus

Organist Johnson and Mrs. Shockey Guest Soloists On Annual Program at Temple

The Grieg male chorus, with the aid of Mary Polk Shockey, contralto and George A. Johnson of Omaha, organist, presented a truly varied program for the evident enjoyment of the 500 or more who attended its concert Friday night in the Temple theater.

The chorus, under the direction of Carl A. Danielson, presented commendable ensemble work in offerings both religious and secular, classical and semi-popular. The choristers were at their best in Protheroe's "O My Saviour" and the delightful Negro spiritual, "De Animals a-comin'," an arrangement of Bartholomew.

Mrs. Shockey applied effectively her rich contralto quality and interpretive ability to songs of such rigid requirements as Brahms' "Standchen" and an adaption of Handel's famed "Largo."

Mr. Johnson provided the feature of the evening by demonstrating a newly developed musical instrument of organ-like operation whose music is produced by means of vacuum tubes.

Roy Proffitt, Hastings, To Head Kosmet Klub

Roy F. Proudfitt, of Hastings, was named president of the University of Nebraska Kosmet Klub at the annual election and initiation of new members at the Cornhusker hotel Friday night. Grant Thomas, Grand Island, was elected business manager, and Jean Wolf, Lincoln, was chosen secretary.

New members inducted were: Bob Aden, Dwight Burney, Leo Cooksley, Frank Coufal, Clyde Martz, John Mason, George Frischer, Carl Harnsberger, and Elton Wiley. Miss Mary Kline and Everett Deger were made honorary members.

DEATH TOLL REACHES 9 IN ELEVATOR FIRE

CHICAGO, May 13—(AP)—The death toll in the $4,000,000 granary fire Thursday stood at nine today.

David Marvin, an employe at one of the five grain elevators destroyed, died last night from burns. Eight other persons perished when trapped in the structures.

Potent Religion Said Real Need

Rev. Niven Tells Masons That Is Where Strength Of America Is

Rev. Thomas R. Niven, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Omaha, declared Friday night that unity is needed among Protestant churches "to resurrect the strength of a dynamic religion" and recommended that the Masonic order join hands with the church in accomplishing this end. He spoke before 400 persons attending the traditional banquet closing the seventy-second reunion of Scottish Rite Masons.

"It is time we eliminated all of the little separating differences," he said. "We need unity. I think Masonry needs to get up on its toes. I think the Church and this order need to join hands."

Showing that the strength of America rests in religion, Rev. Niven declared that "we are coming back to a colorful religion. Protestantism today needs color; it needs a few red ties and stalwart men and stalwart women."

Fundamentals.

Setting forth wisdom and truth as the fundamentals of Masonary, which dates back 6,000 years, Rev. Niven said that nothing is fundamental which cannot be done again and again.

"Today," he said, "there is a tendency to swap ideas that are half-baked for things that are fundamental. Americanism and justice are going to be saved from the rotten totalitarianism only when we accept the fundamental of truth."

Honor J. L. Teeters.

C. Petrus Peterson was toastmaster for the program which included a brief address by John K. Selleck, orator of the new class, and Frank Cargill Patton, sovereign grand inspector general in Nebraska. Dick Koupal gave the secretary's report, and Fred C. Cornell, former secretary, spoke briefly.

Music for the program included selections by the Scottish Rite male chorus under the direction of Reuben Walt and vocal solos by Kathryn Dean. Closing singing of "America" was led by Parvin Witte.

25 Window Panes Are Broken at Arrow Plant

Vandals broke out 25 window lights at the Arrow Aircraft factory, 4133 North, Fifty-sixth shortly before 10 o'clock Friday night. Arthur Prestia, nightwatchman, was making his rounds inside the building when he heard the windows shattered by a shower of rocks. He told police he saw a gang of five or six boys running from the scene but was unable to recognize them.

UPON THEIR OWN

IN ONE productive county of Nebraska two years ago a study of eighty individual farms developed this important and interesting fact. Since the virgin sod of those farms was broken they have been cropped each year—sometimes to wheat but more frequently to corn. Either wheat or corn, produced year after year, even in rotation, punishes the soil and strips it of its fertility. Nor could the farmers occupying those lands be criticized. With a few exceptions mortgages stood against their lands. It took every penny of income the land would produce to meet the taxes, interest, equipment and the necessities for the farm families.

These farmers should not be criticized. Most of them had they been in a position to make a choice would have followed soil conservation practices gladly. Had they been able to sacrifice a single season's possible production on any considerable acreage, upon their own initiative they would have adopted that plan. The fact is important to an understanding of the Roosevelt farm program under Secretary Wallace. Years ago it became a fixed national policy to "encourage" infant industry. Over a sixty year period manufacturing interests continued to call upon one congress after another to hoist tariff duties until American agriculture approached ruin. That high tariff policy was business in government, business in government up to its ears, and for its own enrichment and benefit, although business always has sung a psalm it wanted government to leave business alone. And government would have been better off if it had refused to accept the responsibility for America's industrial establishments.

But after sixty years an embittered agriculture demanded that the national government eliminate the inequalities between industry and agriculture, after the farmer had been bled white in order to create what Mr. Coolidge used to describe as "an industrial democracy" while engaging in one of those rare, flickering smiles that erased the habitual sternness of his face. It has been and is the very heart of this controversy in national policy.

THE debate in congress at this time does not affect the 1939 farm program. It was provided for a year ago. The bill which passed the senate Thursday, and earlier had passed the house in different form, relates to the 1940 program, a year from now.

This year there has been a participation in a farm program in Nebraska far beyond that previously procured. In some counties more than 90 per cent of the cultivated land is voluntarily participating. On the basis of land in cultivation more than 80 per cent of all the acres planted to crops is aligned with the program.

The echoes of the Liberty League Corn Belt crusade have died out. The men who were shouting that the farmer was being stripped of his liberties are silent. The farmer himself gave the answer. It was a clear, uncontrovertible answer. And why? Because he wants to practice conservation. Because he can do so in the face of privileges extended to industry in the long stretch of sixty years, privileges that created a prosperous industry directly at the expense of the farmer, only through the program that has been developed. No one needed to tell him his land needed rest. No one needed to suggest he should plant legumes and plow them under to rebuild and enrich the soil so valuable to him and to all who follow. But when it took the proceeds of every foot of ground to meet his fixed charges and his living expenses he was helpless. That continued insidious inroad upon government by industry to benefit itself, with its ultimate effects upon agriculture, ought to be an impressive warning in those states to business groups endeavoring to procure so-called regulatory legislation which for the most part are price fixing.

IF IN the last analysis it can be said all wealth comes from the soil, this sixty year policy in Washington of favoring manufacturing to the great economic harm of agriculture, ought to lead business groups to discontinue the course through which they provided the example and furnished all of the instruction to every interest that all that is necessary is to come and get it.

Merchants will prosper, industry will prosper, all lines of business will prosper, when the farmer prospers. That has been the fact to which the financier and the manufacturer for years closed their eyes, indifferent to that which was fundamental to the stability and the prosperity of their own businesses. And the fine contribution which this Nebraska legislature has made has been to brush aside one business group after another intent upon repeating the folly that has produced so much trouble. This Nebraska legislature has done a grand job in the face of the pressure of business groups.

If America could retrace her steps which she cannot, in national policy the elimination of privileges for the industrialist would have averted the agricultural crisis of recent years. But the farmer wants to practice conservation. And there is in Washington in congress a group representing industrial regions that does not care a whit what happens to the farmer.

The Fast Mail

THE fast mail is getting faster right along. When the pony express service was inaugurated that seemed a real achievement. But we've come a long ways since then and the end is not yet in sight.

The latest development in transporting the mail will be launched Friday on an experimental basis. Cabin planes traveling at high speeds will swoop toward 40-foot poles erected on airports in Pennsylvania and three other eastern states. A long rope with a mail pouch at the end and a grappling hook in the middle will drop from the plane.

As the mail pouch strikes the ground it will be automatically released. A moment later, the grappling hook will snag a rope suspended between the two poles. An outgoing mail pouch will be fastened to this rope. The plane's crew will then haul in the cable and sort the mail for distribution at the next stop.

Thus does the air mail enter a new non-stop era. But alas, it only gives all of us another excuse for delay in answering our letters.

So Sorry

A MAN was arrested in San Francisco last week on a charge of having imbibed too much but not too wisely. That wasn't as bad as it might have been but the next thing the indiscreet fellow knew he was being held as a man wanted for murder in Kentucky. In vain did he protest his innocence.

Four days later San Francisco police received word from Kentucky that the man they were holding was definitely not the man they wanted. As police released the man they apologized profoundly for their error. A profound apology hardly seems sufficient compensation for languishing in jail four days as a murder suspect. The very least they should have done was to give him a trip around the city with a motorcycle escort.

Driving at Night

DRIVING at night should be avoided if such a thing is possible. This was clearly shown by the reports just made at the Yale bureau for street traffic research. There it was shown that night drivers killed 45,000 more persons than did day drivers during the past eight years, although it was shown that during the day traffic was three times heavier than at night. It was also stated that during 1938 night driving caused 59.4 per cent of all the automobile deaths.

There are many reasons why driving at night is more hazardous than day driving, but probably the most potent one is that the driver is so much more liable to be weary and drowsy, or even to fall asleep at the wheel. Young people returning from dances are often involved in automobile fatalities, and one or two such cases occurred in Nebraska recently.

Then, too, there is always danger of failing or poor lights. There is the possibility that the driver of the other car, being out late, has been attending a party and is in no condition to drive. So it is better to do the driving in the day time, avoiding the highways at night if that can be done.

Solons Shy Away From The Unfair Trades Measures

Legislature Puts It On Monday File Along With Power Bills

Though at least two weeks remain before senators will be going home, there was an air of adjournment around Nebraska's legislative hall as solons knocked off work for the week-end.

Closing moments of the Friday session found senators backing warily awa yfrom the controversial unfair trades practice act, introduced this year by Speaker W. H. Diers to replace the 1937 law declared inoperative by the Supreme court.

The court would outlaw selling of goods below cost as defined in the bill, save under certain conditions such as moving damaged stocks, perishable supplies and the like.

While the bill, LB 86, was read and while Senator Diers offered several minor amendments, the senators indulged in a spirit of good-natured weariness.

Senatorial Levity.

They lightly adopted Diers' amendments and even one offered by Senator Richard Johnson to forbid the showing of free motion pictures to attract trade to town when the picture would be in competition with theaters within a radius of 25 miles.

"Evidently," Diers observed, "a lot of the members are approaching this bill as a matter of levity. It's not my purpose to talk on this measure for two or three hours but I want to argue it on its merits."

He added he was wondering if the members would rather have the bill laid over until they felt more like working.

"I move we put this bill over until Monday," Senator Thomas helped out. "This is an important bill and highly controversial. We are not in any mental frame of mind to consider it this afternoon."

Apparently, everybody felt about the same way and hurried to support Thomas' suggestion. They then countermanded a previous decision to work Saturday and adjourned until Monday at 9 a. m.

Power Bills Up.

Whether the unfair trades bill will actually come up Monday was not certain. The two power bills are up for a final vote then along with the truck act. The enrollment and review committee is loaded to the gills with embryo acts and must unload sometime.

The budget bill—long awaited and past due—was set to come out Monday, too, but Appropriations Chairman Frank Brady reported the bill would not be tossed in until Tuesday morning.

Sometime before they go home, senators are in line to have a look at Senator Frank Sorrell's LB 1, the measure that would require alcohol made from U. S. agriculture products to be blended in all gasoline sold in Nebraska.

Gaining Strength.

Viewed early in the session by may as a funny roly-poly, this measure of late has been accumulating muscle and opponents who snickered at first aren't so confident now.

Supported by a good share of the farm bloc as opening the way for a new market for agriculture products, the alcohol-blend bill is an ideal trading vehicle. Backers are open to amendments and there's many a senator twixt here and adjournment that wants help on some measure of his own.

A high point of the final session Friday was the advancement of LB 282 the livestock board measure. It is the first hepped along toward passage this year that would create a new commission. The commission appointed by the governor, would have the state veterinarian as its executive secretary and would be created for the purpose of suspressing and controlling dangerous infectious livestock diseases.

But where you find a poor, persecuted minority, you also find fat rich men of the same race who are making no effort to help them.

DIET AND HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D., Author of "The Human Body."

CALCIUM VERY IMPORTANT IN EXPECTANT MOTHER'S DIET

The expectant mother must feed her growing child and Nature has decreed that the child's demands are met first, even at the expense of the mother's own tissues. For instance, if there is not enough calcium in the expectant mother's diet to supply the foetus, it will get the calcium from the mother's teeth and bones. The old adage "For every child, a tooth" illustrates this. That adage is true only if the mother's diet is insufficient in calcium.

The items besides the ordinary, average substances one eats which should be in the expectant mother's diet are:

Calcium: milk, buttermilk, cheese (except cottage cheese), egg yolk, dried figs, ice cream and pharmaceutical preparations. Leafy vegetables also contain calcium but it is not in a readily available form.

Phosphorus Needs.

Phosphorus: meat, fish, poultry, milk, eggs, chocolate, nuts, wheat bran, peas and beans.

Iron: Liver and other glandular foods, red meats, egg yolk, peaches, apricots, prunes and raisins (small amount), leafy vegetables (small amount) and iron salts.

Iodine: sea food, iodized salt.

Vitamins A and D: butter, cheese, whole milk, cod liver oil.

Vitamin B: brewer's yeast, wheat germ, whole wheat bread, raw. cabbage, carrots, fruits, leafy vegetables.

Vitamin B: Yeast, liver bananas, beets, egg yolk, carrots, citrus friuts, oysters.

Vitamin C: citrus fruits, tomato, parsley, green or red peppers, uncooked cabbage, other leafy vegetabls.

Vitamin E: wheat germ oil, whole cereals, egg yolk, green vegetables, muscle meat.

An average menu for uncomplicated pregnancy is:

Breakfast: One orange (tomato juice if preferred); rolled oats (or some whole bread cereal); sugar and cream (or a glass of milk) on the cereal; one egg; coffee (with cream and sugar); buttered toast and jelly if desired.

Luncheon: creamed asparagus; lettuce (with mayonnaise unless obesity is to be avoided); macaroni and cheese; bread (preferably whole wheat) with butter; ice cream or a glass of milk; coffee or tea, if desired.

Dinner: cream of tomato soup, soda crackers, brussels sprouts, baked potato, roast beef (or liver, fish, oysters, or chicken); bread (or whole wheat muffin) with butter; glass of milk; blancmange, custard, or other dessert.

QUESTION.

"Please tell me if the blood pressure should read 100 plus your age. Have heard some say this and others say that if this is so then a person 80 years old would have 180. I am 52 years old and my pressure is 122. If this is too low, I would like to know."

ANSWER.

I see your difficulties. They are entirely theoretical. If one examines normal people at all ages, it is found in general that the average blood pressure is about 120 and goes up about ten points per decade until about the age of 50. The ones who are destined to have high blood pressure then go on getting higher, but they don't reach the age of 80. Blood pressures at the age of 80 are on the average around 130 because people who live that long are from birth destined to be in the low blood pressure group. Your pressure indicates good health and a long life.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

An Opinion Is Changed

Who should his ideas rearrange
Oft finds them difficult to change.
—Old Mother Nature.

Jimmy Skunk was looking for fat beetles and grubs near the Lone Little Path. From the entrance to a small hole between the roots of a tree at one side Peter Rabbit's small son watched Jimmy. It was his first meeting with the little gentleman in black with white stripes. Jimmy had discovered the little Rabbit and had offered him some sound advice, but I fear it went in one ear and out the other. With most children of his age, good advice is likely to do that. You see their memories are not yet sticky enough. What is a sticky memory? Why it is a memory in which facts and good advice and things like that stick and never are forgotten.

The small bunny was forming an opinion as he watched Jimmy Skunk. "That fellow is too slow to be dangerous," thought he. You know Jimmy seldom hurries. "I could get away from him just as easy. I don't believe anybody is afraid of him. I wonder that some of the big people I have heard about haven't killed him long ago." Then he asked Jimmy Skunk a question. "Don't you ever hurry?" asked the little Rabbit.

"Why should I hurry?" Jimmy wanted to know.

"Don't you ever have to run away from folks?" the bunny asked.

"Run away!" exclaimed Jimmy. "Why should I ever run away?"

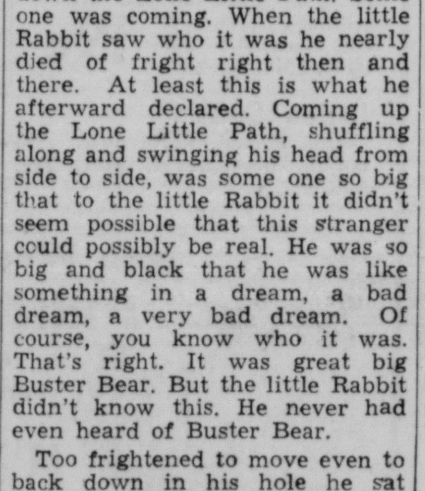
"Aren't you afraid of anybody?" asked the little Rabbit.

"No one that I am likely to meet," replied Jimmy Skunk as he continued to hunt for fat beetles and grubs. "I wouldn't like to have Hooty the Great Horned Owl around, but he is the only one, and it is a little early for him to be out hunting."

"I guess you would be afraid of Reddy Fox if he should come along," said the little Rabbit.

"That fellow—pooh!" exclaimed Jimmy. "He knows better than to bother me, Ha!" He had just pulled over a big piece of bark that had been lying on the ground a long time. A big beetle started to run and for the second time since the little Rabbit had seen him Jimmy moved quickly. His black paws landed on that beetle almost before it could start.

"He is boasting. That is what he is doing. He's a boaster. Of course, he would be afraid. I wish that Fox would come along. I do so," thought the little Rabbit.



"Why doesin't he run?" thought the little Rabbit

Just then there was a noise down the Lone Little Path. Some one was coming. When the little Rabbit saw who it was he nearly died of fright right then and there. At least this is what he afterward declared. Coming up the Lone Little Path, shuffling along and swinging his head from side to side, was some one so big that to the little Rabbit it didn't seem possible that this stranger could possibly be real. He was so big and black that he was like something in a dream, a bad dream, a very bad dream. Of course, you know who it was. That's right. It was great big Buster Bear. But the little Rabbit didn't know this. He never had even heard of Buster Bear.

Too frightened to move even to back down in his hole he sat where he was, holding his breath and with his eyes almost popping out of his head. Jimmy Skunk had moved out into the middle of the Lone Little Path and was starting to amble down it. He was stopped by a loud "woof!" from Buster Bear. It made the little Rabbit shiver.

Jimmy Skunk didn't shiver. The little Rabbit could hardly believe his eyes when he saw Jimmy merely look up, then stamp his front feet, at the same time raising and spreading his big bushy tail so that it stood straight up with only the tip drooping.

"Why doesn't he run?" thought the little Rabbit.

Instead of running Jimmy moved forward a little, then stamped again. It was a threat. Even the little Rabbit recognized that. Buster Bear stood still and growled. It was a deep, threatening, rumbly-grumbly growl. Even the little Rabbit could see that, and his opinion changed.

"I do believe that he meant what he said," thought he. "He isn't a boaster, after all."

JUST FOLKS

By Edgar A. Guest

MOTHER COUNSEL.

'Twas thus the mother used to speak:
"My son, be gracious to the weak,
And never turn from need away
For fear you'll need yourself, some day."

'Twas this the mother used to tell:
"My son, go soon where sorrows dwell,
On earth the bitterest anguish known
Is sitting down to weep alone."

'Twas this the mother used to say:
"My son, be generous while you may,
For poverty's worst pang to bear
Is having nothing left to share."

'Twas thus, when I was at her knee
The gentle mother counseled me,
And now with shame my cheeks grow hot
To think how often I forgot.

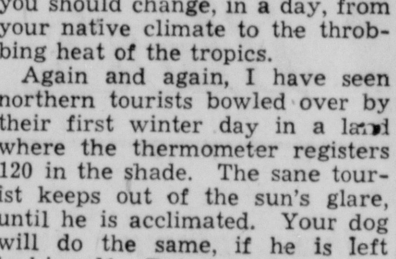
Calling All Dogs



By ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE

When Hot Weather Hits Him

Even as early as the middle of May, in most parts of this country, sickeningly hot weather is liable to set in, for a day or two, just as a cold spell may occur. The cold spell won't do any special harm to the normal dog. He has been used to such chilliness, off and on, for the past six months. But the red-hot spells are different.

For half a year his system has not been geared to blazing sunrays; to swarms of early mosquitos and gnats. His diet has fitted him for colder weather. Long immunity has left him prey to insect pests. It is as though you should change, in a day, from your native climate to the throbbing heat of the tropics.

Again and again, I have seen northern tourists bowled over by their first winter day in a land where the thermometer registers 120 in the shade. The sane tourist keeps out of the sun's glare, until he is acclimated. Your dog will do the same, if he is left to himself. But, too often, he is not left to himself.

He is expected to romp, to exercise violently, to take long walks, in the full heat of the sun. This by the master who has no better sense than to subject him to such perils. There is a case of heatstroke or of running fits. It is mistaken for rabies. And one more good dog is shot.

Be sane!

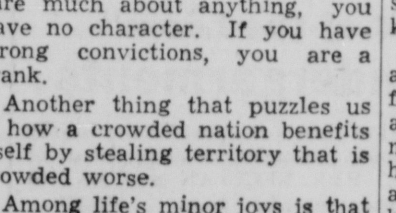
PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

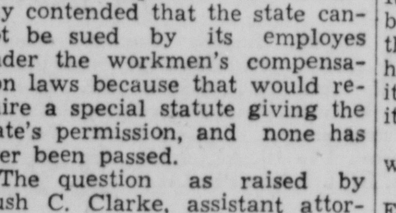
Sacrificing the best part of your life for others is a noble business, provided they are worth the sacrifice.

You can tell when a radio star is about to speak plain truth. The announcer says the sponsor isn't responsible.



When you see that ethereal, proud and self righteous look on a man's face, he has never done wrong or he has quit smoking.

It is easy to recognize the modest and honorable man who has pride and a sense of dignity. He is the one who dreads appearing in court.



What a world! If you don't care much about anything, you have no character. If you have strong convictions, you are a crank.

Another thing that puzzles us is how a crowded nation benefits itself by stealing territory that is crowded worse.

Among life's minor joys is that of getting a letter of rebuke from a grammarian who makes several mistakes in punctuation.

Says State Can't Be Sued For Compensation

Arguments presented in a brief before the Supreme court Saturday contended that the state cannot be sued by its employes under the workmen's compensation laws because that would require a special statute giving the state's permission, and none has ever been passed.

The question as raised by Rush C. Clarke, assistant attorney general, in attacking a compensation award affirmed by the Holt county District court, giving $14.45 for 350 weeks, plus medical and attorney fees totaling $350 in the death of Walter R. Callen, former state highway department employe, who died Nov. 17, 1935.

The brief pointed out that even though the high court may find that the state can be sued in that type of action the evidence in the case does not show that death was the result of Callen's employment.

Couple On Probation

Richard M. and Mary Bennett, of Kansas City, Mo., were placed on probation for one year by District Judge Polk Friday and ordered to pay the costs of their prosecution on a forgery charge. They had pleaded guilty to forging a $12.35 check, explaining that they needed the money to return to Kansas City from Des Moines. They were placed in charge of C. C. Becker, adult probation officer.

OLD HOME WEEK MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

The Characters.

Asey Mayo, Cape Cod sleuth.
Kay Thayer, girl reporter.

Yesterday: Jane tells Asey she didn't kill Eloise. He believes her.

Chapter 42.

A BIG F AND A LITLE F.

Asey drove Mrs. Cummings home and then took Jane back to Aunt Sara's.

"I suppose," she said, "we've got to tell them the truth, here. Oh, Asey—what's someone trying to do?"

"I wish I could tell you," Asey said. "Come along in, an' we'll get it over with."

Around nine that night he returned to the hollow.

"Everything's all settled about Eloise," Lane said. "Cummings fixed it up. He saw your cousin Weston, and he said Weston nearly collapsed at this. So did Brinley. Brinley was there at the office, too. Asey, you want a guard here tonight, don't you?"

"No, I'm goin' to stay here myself," Asey said. "One of your fellers might drop in every so often. Maybe if we could fox this feller into thinkin' the place was empty an' unguarded, he might get to what he's after. He wasn't after Eloise the other night, 'cause she was uptown. I've left my car up the road, hidden away. Fireworks time seems to be his pet time for action. 'Bout then, you might be in the neighborhood. Anyway, we'll see what we can see."

"Asey," Lane said earnestly, "I'm sorry I was such a fool this afternoon, but as Cummings said, killing Eloise was simply adding insult to injury. And under my eyes I can't understand it—oh, if you say Jane's innocent, all right. But I still don't understand it. And listen, I don't like to leave you here alone. We ought to have some signal."

"If I run into that feller," Asey said, "you won't need signals to know it. I'll be okay."

He took up his stand on the porch, in the shadows of the bushes near the house; but as the minutes passed, the drizzle that had begun in the afternoon turned into a heavy rain. Asey unlocked the door and let himself into the house.

As he closed the door, someone ran up on the porch after him.

Asey wheeled around. "Who—"

"Don't shoot," Kay said. "I've been opposite, across the road, for half an hour, trying to make out if it was you lurking here, or my imagination, or my friend of the other night."

"Haven't you had enough?" Asey demanded. "For heaven's sakes, do you want any more of what you got Wednesday? Go way. Go home. Go off—"

"The Thayers," Kay said, "have a nasty stubborn streak, Mother says. Father claims it's the Harding blood. Both are pretty stubborn. Rugged individualists. Horses and buggies—"

"Sulkies, if you ask me," Asey said. "Who told you I was here?"

"I guessed. You've got a score to settle with that fellow. And when you come right down to it, so have I. You can have your eye and your tooth, but why shouldn't I have mine?"

"Oh, come in" Asey said. "Come in. You take the window an' I'll take this. Anyone fool enough to prowl around in this rain d'serves to lose both eyes anyway."

Time Marches On.

The minutes ticked on.

"I guess the fireworks are thwarted tonight," Kay said at last. "It's long past the time. Philbrick should have something in the fireworks line that coped with rain. Waterproof fireworks. Probably a lot of money in it. You might dally with the idea in your spare time. Why was Eloise killed?"

"In general," Asey said, "there are two main an' leadin' motives for murder, one of which is love an' its variations, an' the other is money an' its variations. Eloise had forty-one dollars in the bank, an' ten shares of Tel. and Tel. She kept'em in her right-hand bureau drawer, in case you're int'rested. She owed Doc Cummings nine dollars an' twenty-five cents, an' she owed Quimby for four chocolate sodas. Said so on her mem'randum pad. Under the circumstances, I don't feel she was killed for money or its variations. Mary Randall's antique stock is good, but it ain't worth more'n five thousand dollars. The land an' house is worth four or five, but it's got a thumpin' mortgage on it."

Kay rubbed at the window pane with her handkerchief.

"Who," she said, "love or hated Eloise? How could you love or hate Eloise? How could you do anything more than accept her for what she was?"

"As Madame Meaux might say," Asey remarked, "you can't love a woman whose teeth click."

"But you couldn't hate her." Kay said. "because her teeth clicked, either. I have a grandmother whose teeth click, but I love her dearly. Can I smoke?"

"If you keep the end hidden."

Twelve o'clock passed.

"I place my son John in this room," Kay said suddenly, "and the first thing he saw was a big F and a little f."

"Big fool an' little fool," Asey returned promptly. "What is the one an' only word you can make out of the word 'scythe'?"

"Chesty," Kay said. "I read it in a psych book in Psych sixty-two. Mental Growth and Mental Decline. I never knew which part it belonged in."

Another half hour went by.

"I must say," Kay sounded tired, "that for one so teeming with action Wednesday, this man is curiously lassitudinous—is that the word I want? Asey, don't you suppose he's shot his bolt for the day? After all, he's killed someone. Benevenuto Cellini would have considered that ample. It wasn't before breakfast, but it ought to count."

"Uh-huh."

"What do you brood about?"

"Bertha."

"Bertha—oh. What for? Do you cherish a secret passion for Bertha, Asey? Do you long for the touch of her hand, or what?"

"I was wonderin'," Asey said, "if I'd picked her beachplum jelly this afternoon durin' the judgin'. I sort of gypped on that."

"For shame, how?"

"I went out to Sara's preserve closet an' looked at what was there, an' what kind of jar, an' then I picked the one most like it later. After all, Bertha's a good cook, an' why not? You get cups an' things, an' why shouldn't Bertha get 'em as well as Mrs. J. Arthur Brinley?"

"Why not?" Kay said. "Ask Mike Slade."

Merrymakers.

"An' besides, I r'sent what I call unfair agitation on the part of J. Arthur. He told me in fourteen ways, an' all underhanded, just exactly what Bessie's jelly looked like, an' how she'd won prizes for years an' years. Told me everythin' but the number, an' with a little encouragement on my part, he'd have told me that—Kay, there's a car slowin' up. Wonder if it's Lane—move over, will you?"

"It went on," Kay said. "Just a lot of merrymakers, didn't you hear the radio going? Probably they stopped to look at the figures—they're simply hideous from the other side of the road. By the way, oughtn't we to bring them in from the rain? They're haggard and weatherbeaten enough—"

"They're already soaked through," Asey pointed out, "an' so'd we be if we tried any rescue work. Kay, look again. Are you sure that car went? Seems to me I can hear the radio."

"I thought I did, too," Kay said, "but I can't see a tail light, or any light at all. Parkers, I guess. What a night to park in, and what a ghastly place—Asey, aren't we being silly, watching the front of the house this way? If anyone's going to come, they're not going to come and pound on the front door knocker. They'll creep up from the woods in the rear, shouldn't you think?"

"I was thinkin' that, in a way," Asey said. "S'pose you keep your eyes on the parkers while I wander out back an' take a look around."

Kay had moved to another window when he returned.

"The radio's still going," she said. "I think the car's just beyond the house, off the side of the road. Much ribaldry, or else they're listening to a ribald orchestra—Asey, I thought there were four of those figures."

"There are."

"Only three that I can see," Kay said.

"One's probably fallen down again. One of the gents has a sort of dropsy. Lane tried to fix it, 'cause he claimed it was unnervin' to watch it fall. I guess too many tourists pawed it over—"

"There are only three," Kay said, "and there's none on the lawn. Now that's funny—I wonder if—let me look out of that window. No, I can't see any on the ground here. Where do you suppose—"

Outside, a car engine raced.

"Tourists!" Asey sprang for the door. "I bet those birds pinched one—"

Kay raced along after him.

"There goes the car—Asey! Oh, the pigs! Can't we do something—"

Asey's Colt barked.

"Scare 'em, maybe—Kay, let's give that bunch a chase. Come on. My car's yonder."

As Kay fell breathlessly into the roadster's seat, Asey pulled at her arm.

"Get out—Quick—"

"Why?"

"Get out!"

"What for?"

"Is your car here? Where? Hustle Come on, show me. Quick!"

"But it's—what's the matter with yours?"

"Tires slashed," Asey said as they ran down the road. "Those weren't any tourist snatchers—that's our man!"

WONDER IF THESE THINGS ARE ON TH' LEVEL?
606

This is probably the ingiest problem that you have ever seen but it's lots of fun. There are eight words with ten letters each. The first word starts with "ing," the second word has "ing" for its second, third and fourth letters, the third word has "ing" for its third, fourth and fifth letters and so on to the last word which ends in "ing." Here are the definition-clues to the words: 1. To seek favor. 2. Extraordinary, unusual. 3. With fear or with servility. 4. Big, double-breasted overcoats. 5. One of the United States. 6. Famously, greatly, smoothly (as "He got along with people - - - - - - ing - -." 7. Meanderings, ramblings. 8. Speaking in a low voice.

Answer to Yesterday's Twizzler.

The two numbers are 3 and 6. Their sum is 9 which is half of their product, 18.

Stock Market Recovery Signs Barely Discernible

Exchange Prices Mixed At Close

NEW YORK, May 13—(AP)—Recovery signs appeared in today's brief stock market proceedings but, in most cases, they were so faint as to be barely discernible.

It was a crawling session throughout with transfers of approximately 175,000 shares among the smallest in nearly a year. While fractional gains were plentiful at the close, numerous issues were unchanged and an assortment of minor declines was in evidence.

Traders were scarce in boardrooms, the majority feeling there was scant profit in attending a two-hour performance which, judging by the past several weeks, would be without any real interest.

Sentiment seemed to be slightly improved as recently waning hopes for tax revision in congress revived a trifle.

No great stimulation was derived from business news and the European picture, at least for the moment, was viewed as a neutral market influence. Prospects that soft coal would start moving Monday following the six weeks' tie-up, were moderately encouraging.

A few mail orders and farm implements were aided by the senate's record appropriation for agriculture and the favorable statement of Montgomery Ward for the quarter ended April 30.

Brooklyn Union Gas stock and bonds again touched new highs for the year in the wake of optimistic earnings forecasts for this company.

Steels were resistant despite further reports of price cutting in this field.

Small advances at one time or another were posted for U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Standard Oil of N. J., Consolidated Edison, Southern Railway, Westinghouse, Union Carbide, International Harvester, Deere, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak and Glenn Martin. Some of these eventually slipped.

Douglas Aircraft marked up a modest gain following the concern's report for the fiscal quarter ended Feb. 28, revealing the highest net for any single quarter in its history.

Bonds were selectively in demand. With the exception of cotton futures, which were given an upward push on reports Spain might arrange large purchases of this staple in the United States, commodities lacked rising vitality.

Fractional advances were scored in the curb market by American Cyanamid "B" and Niagara Hudson Power. Creole Petroleum and Northern States Power "A" shaded lower.

New York Sugar

NEW YORK, May 13—(AP)—World sugar futures turned reactionary in quiet trading today as prices in London pointed downward on steps taken by the international authorities to release additional supplies of raw sugar. NEW YORK BOND REVIEW

NEW YORK, May 13—(AP)—The bond market stayed within a fractional range either way of Friday's prices today with trading quiet.

Only a half-dozen treasury issues had appeared on the tape toward the close and most deals were made within 1-32 to 3-32 of a point up or down from the preceding session.

In the corporate list there were a few strong spots, notably Brooklyn Union Gas 5s, New Orleans Texas & Mexico 5s and Louisville & Nashville 4s, all up 1 to [illegible] points.

But the general run of active issues were well mixed. A shade ahead were Detroit Edison 4½s, Rock Island 4s, American & Foreign Power 5s and Southern Pacific 4½s.

Unchanged to lower were Delaware & Hudson Refunding 4s, American Water Works 6s, Bethlehem Steel 3½s Missouri Pacific 5s Nickel Plate 5½s and Pere Marquette 5s.

Foreign dollar loans followed the general market pattern. Argentine 4s and Australia 4½s were up fractionally while Rome 6½s yielded more than a point.

Wheat Higher On Chicago Market

CHICAGO, May 13—(AP)—Prospects of warm weather over the entire wheat belt during the weekend and indications of very little rain during the coming week boosted wheat prices as much as 1½ cent a bushel today.

Wheat for July delivery reached 75 cents, up 1½ from the previous close, and the September contract was up 1 at 74⅞. The current delivery advanced to 79¾, up 1⅜ from yesterday's close, after opening fractionally down.

Wheat closed 1⅛ to 1⅜c higher, May 79⅝@¾, July, 74⅞; September 74¾@⅞; corn ⅛c lower to ⅜c higher, July 51⅞ @¾, September 52½@⅝; oats ¼ off to ½ up, July 33⅛@33c; September 31⅛; Soy beans ¼ off to ¼ up, July 95½, October 83¾; Rye 1⅜ to 2⅞ higher, September 51⅜; lard unchanged to 5 cents up.

Despite reports of rains overnight in the southwest, wheat prices advanced as much as a cent a bushel today.

Rain fell in the western part of Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas. Oklahoma City received an inch of precipitation and it was still raining there this morning. Private advices said rain fell in virtually every part of the Texas panhandle, where it was much needed.

Most traders, however, were inclined to believe that general soaking rains were needed in the winter wheat belt to change the tenor of recent reports.

This belief was strengthened by reports of crop experts now in the field. B. W. Snow wired that he was convinced the Kansas crop would not exceed 100,000,000 bushels promise at this date. Only light showers have been received, he said, and acreage abandoned is larger than reported. "The crop is steadily going back and will continue to decline unless general rain is received," he said.

Weather in the southwest this morning was reported to be generally clear.

Liverpool quotations, which were slightly higher than due, aided the upturn here. The English market was helped by the sale of another cargo of Australian wheat to Shanghai.

Corn trade was quiet and prices were fractionally lower much of the time, but later took strength from wheat and advanced to about yesterday's close. There was little export demand for the grain.

Rye advanced more than a cent to a new season's high, July reaching 49⅛c, and September 50½c. Oats trade was quiet and about steady and lard prices also were unchanged.

GEORGE PUTNAM KIDNAPED; SAFE

of them got out. I am not sure, but I believe he went to talk with someone in a car which was following mine. Soon he returned and we drove on. They did not threaten me, but suggested that I give up publishing the book. Then I could tell we were driving off the main road.

'They walked me, blindfolded, for a short distance and then made me lie down on a board. They taped my legs and hands and mouth tightly and left, teling me I would be found in the morning.

"I managed to work loose the bandage on my mouth after an hour or so. "I'm not sure how long. I called for help and some people came. Then they called the officers. I discovered when they freed me that because I was in an unfinished house, I would have been found as soon as it was daylight. Obviously they did not intend to hurt me."

Cole and other friends in Hollywood were enroute here to return him to his home.

Putnam was found but a few minutes after Los Angeles police had issued a statewide teletype that he was missing. His absence was reported by his secretary when he failed to return to his home at midnight and a check determined that he had not visited Cole.

Glasses Broken.

San Fernando valley division detectives, searching the garage, found his hat crumpled and his glasses broken and feared that he had been assaulted. Only yesterday he had obtained a license from the district attorney's office to carry a gun, but said he did not have it with him last night.

The former New York publisher and Bend, Ore., mayor early this month was reported planning to wed for the third time. His bride, friends said, would be Mrs. Jean-Marie Consigny James of Beverly Hills, whose divorce from William Robert James, son of U. S. District Judge William P. James, becomes final May 18.

Putman in recent weeks had ridiculed threats against his life. The incident of the intruder at his home occurred April 12. A few days later, his secretary received a threatening telephone call, followed during the next week by other messages.

are no changes of note in the contract. It provides for basic pay of $6 a day for a 5-day, 35-hour week in the north and $5.60 in the south.

Dissenting Groups.

The dissenting groups were the Big Sandy, the Hazard, the Harlan, all of Kentucky; the Virginia Coal Operators association; the Southern Appalachian of Tennessee and southwestern Virginia, and the Kanawha of West Virginia.

Lewis declared the miners were aware that a "preponderant sentiment to tonnage in the six districts are in truth and in fact favorable to acceptance of the agreement."

Then the C. I. O. head added a "word of warning."

"I wish to say to them that until they make up their minds, sound public policy requires that they keep those mines closed. The mine workers must not be evicted from their homes. There must not be shooting of mine workers by coal operators or any other use of lethal weapons against them. That goes particularly for Harlan county (Ky.) and the other five districts. Soldiers will not operate those mines."

Agreements to resume production already were in effect in Montana, Washington, Wyoming, Utah, Missouri, Kansas, Indiana, Illinois, West Kentucky and other states outside the Appalachian area.

Ballot Count Made In Burlington Union Representation Fight

CHICAGO, May 13—(AP)—Ballots cast by approximately 4,200 shop crafts employes of the Burlington railroad to determine their labor organization representative were being counted Saturday under supervision of the National Railway Mediation board.

The vote taken at various points along the Burlington system was between the American Federation of Labor and the Mechanical Department association.

O. F. Carpenter and J. F. Murray of the mediation board came from Washington to supervise the count. Ballots were mailed, sealed, to Chicago and opend today.

Carpenter said the count would be finished late Saturday and he would report to the Mediation board in Washington.

Rules Property Held By Indian Not Exempt From State Taxation

Being an Indian doesn't help much in escaping taxes, the Nebraska attorney general's office decided Saturday.

Alfred D. Raun, Thurston county attorney, explained the superintendent of the Winnebago Indian agency had asked, upon instruction from Washington, that certain lands once on the tax rolls but now held by Indians, should be exempt from tax.

Attorney General Walter Johnson told Raun the lands in question should probably remain on the tax rolls.

"It is probable," he said, "that any act purporting to exempt from taxation land held in fee by an individual would be void under our constitution."

Turkey Now Is In Line To Get Trade Loans

Polish Government Sends Sharp Protest To Danzig Senate

(By the Associated Press.)

The British-French bloc sought closer ties today with its new ally, Turkey, as a Polish protest to the Danzig senate sharpened the issue between Germany and Poland over the Free City.

In London, following yesterday's announcement by Prime Minister Chamberlain that Turkey and Britain would aid each other in the event of "aggression leading to war in the Mediterranean area," political commentators predicted Turkey would gain important British trade and munitions loans.

The French government approved the British-Turkish accord and French leaders hinted that France expected to reach a similar agreement soon. Informed sources in Paris hailed the addition of Turkey to the British-French line-up as a sign that soviet Russia also intends to join and as an attraction to Bulgaria and Yugoslavia.

A Danzig senate order forbidding a memorial service last night for the Polish hero, Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, on grounds it might cause disorder brought a Polish protest and charge that the Danzig government could not "guarantee peace."

Polish newspapers declared Polish troops should be sent to Danzig to assure order there if the Free City's senate cannot accept responsibility for it.

In Vienna, Catholic church authorities interpreted a nazi order that personnel changes in the clergy must have party sanction as meaning nazis would control appointments of new vicars, pastors and other church dignitaries.

Informed sources expressed belief that Vienna church authorities would ask the vatican's advice and that much depended on how stringently the new rule was applied.

He did not accompany the club to Boston because of an attack of tonsilitis.

YORK PAYS TRIBUTE TO ROBERT GREWELL

YORK, Neb., May 13—(AP)—Hundreds gathered here today to pay tribute to Robert V. Grewell, one of the last surviving witnesses of the driving of the golden spike at Promontory, Utah in 1869 that welded the Union Pacific and Central Pacific railroads. Adding a note of comedy to the platform program and parade was the frog jumping contest held by the junior chamber of commerce.

Designated as "Bob Grewell day" by Mayor Andrew Grosshans, Yorksters added color to the festival by turning out in costumes of the 1869 period. Grewell was presented with a gift from local organizations at the platform ceremony.

ARMLESS BOXER . . .

One of the most remarkable feats of boxing on record is the defeat of Knight, a British blacksmith, by Chapman, a young man with no arms, on September 22, 1796. The battle was fought at Braden-well, near Erith, in Kent, and lasted nearly an hour. Chapman fought with his head and heels and the blacksmith suffered two broken ribs.

HAIRLESS COW . . .

Except for thin, pencil-like eyebrows, eyelashes, a little hair in her ears and a switch on her tail, Girlie is devoid of hair. Girlie is a four-year-old cow owned by Willis Haghart of Cumberland, Ky. She has the skin of a human, Haghart says. Soft and velvety to the touch, her skin sunburns easily and freckles, but she tans nicely.

One-Armed Driving Is Claimed Negligent

High Court Told Youth Is Responsible For Injury To His Passengers

Placed before the Supreme court for decision in written arguments Saturday was the question of whether a motorist, driving at 35 miles an hour at night with his arm around his girl friend should be considered grossly negligent if he fails to see a parked truck and crashes into it.

Attorneys for Marjorie Holberg told the court in a brief that such circumstances constitute gross negligence. They say Marjorie should be permitted to collect damages for injuries under the guest passenger act for injuries suffered when the car in which she was riding with Donald McDonald of near Morrill, crashed into a truck, Nov. 28, 1937.

Marjorie, accompanied by Gene Winchell, was riding in the rear seat of a car driven by Donald. Riding in the front seat was Dorothy Jones.

The Scotts Bluff county District court decided in favor of young McDonald after hearing testimony that:

The truck was parked without lights.

Donald had put his arm around Dorothy shortly before the accident.

Marjorie had not objected to the manner in which Donald was driving because, she said, she did not have time to protest before the accident occurred.

Attorneys for Donald argued, among other points, that Marjorie "was familiar with the condition of said automobile and the driving characteristics of x x x (Donald); that she acquiesced in the manner in which he drove x x x, made no protest and assumed the risk."

LINCOLN, BEARCATS TOP FIELD

OVER THE STATE

by ALEX STODDARD

BILL JENNINGS, Lincoln high school three-sport athlete, should be credited with a bit of brain-work which may have enabled the Capital City baseball team to get past Minden in the second round of the state tournament now in progress . . . Minden loaded the bases with none out in the fifth inning of the then scoreless game . . . Catcher Wheeler of Lincoln plucked one runner off third, then a force play made it two out but left a runner in position to score . . . When the second out was made, Jennings tossed down his glove and turned to the runner on first, saying "It's too bad; three on and you couldn't score" . . . The runner nodded agreement and wandered toward the Minden bench . . . Jennings grabbed his glove, howled for the ball and tagged the runner for the third out.

WHEN Floyd Wilkinson pinch-hit the home run that broke the 1-1 deadlock and gave Lincoln the victory, he failed to step on first base . . . Wilson, Minden first-baseman, called for the ball, then began arguing with Umpire Blakewell that Wilkinson was out . . . Blakewell stood mute and Wilson finally quit talking . . . The reason Blakewell failed to talk was that Wilson, after getting the ball, failed to step on the base, an act which legally would have made a put-out and nullified the run.

BIGGEST surprise of the track meet came in the javelin when Yager of Surprise cast the javelin 181 feet 4 inches to pace all spear-throwers . . . Ralph King of Waterloo impressed with his hurdling form and ability . . . One of the "hottest" races on the Saturday afternoon program was expected to be the class A mile, in which Bob Francisco of Lincoln and Charley Helms of Kearney matched strides . . . Francisco earlier in the season beat Helms in the last five steps in the time of 4:39.4, best mile mark of the season in prep circles, in the Kearney invitational meet.

Browns, Cardinals Enjoy Monopoly of Leadership In Major Batting.

NEW YORK, May 13—(AP)—The "M" boys of St. Louis—Mel Mazzera of the Browns and Joe Medwick of the Cardinals—have taken a good grip on the major league batting lead.

Mazzera's .475 has no peer in either loop, while Medwick's .394 has made him the tops in the National league, which he dominated in 1936 and 1937. The ten leading batters in each league:

STROMSBURG FIRST TO ENTER TOURNEY

HOLDREGE, Neb., May 13—(AP)—State Baseball Commissioner C. A. Brown said today Stromsburg has paid its registration fee for the first official entry into the state semi-pro baseball tournament to be held here July 16-27.

Stromsburg, runner-up in last year's tournament, was barely nosed out by the Kearney Irishmen. Brown predicts twice as many teams will be entered in tournament this year as last.

State Championship Resolves Itself To Two-Team Race As Highs Face Finals.

By ALEX STODDARD.

Scottsbluff's defending champions and the No. 1 challenger, Lincoln high, forged to the front in class A in the Nebraska high school track and field championship preliminaries Friday afternoon at Memorial Stadium. Lincoln placed 11 men in the Saturday finals, while Scottsbluff landed nine, as did Omaha Tech.

Two-Team Race.

Tech's performers, however, failed to measure up to the standards of either the Scottsbluff or Lincoln athletes, and railbirds were picking a two-team race for the state title.

Neligh, meanwhile took the lead in class B with nine finalists to six for Ord, but again it appeared that the finals would be nip-and-tuck between those two and Ravenna and Oshkosh. In class C, Winnebago placed seven and is expected to win, while Ohiowa took a virtual stranglehold on class C with nine.

Howard Debus of Lincoln wrote a new record into the books when he twirled the discus 148 feet 3 inches. The discus mark this year is new, due to the fact that a lighter platter is being used, and the best heave of the meet will go into the books as a record.

King Near Record.

Only other performance of the day to approach a record was the 15.3 time in the 120-yard high hurdles by Ralph King of Waterloo. King might have equalled the 15.2 state standard had he not clipped the third from the last hurdle.

Attention, however, centered on the class A team fight forecast for Saturday. Lincoln, with Howard Debus landing four spots, qualified heavily in the field events, including three in the high jump finals, but placed only one man in the five track events—Bob Sexton in the 220-yard dash.

No preliminaries were run in the mile, 880 and relay, however, and the Capital City gang should pick up points in the distance runs. Bob Francisco is expected to grab first place in the mile, and Harlan Culwell should finish in the money in the 880. Similarly, however, the relay should boost Scottsbluff's total.

Bearcats Strong On Track.

The Bearcats almost reversed Lincoln's qualifying feats. The defending champs put seven in the finals of the track events, but could get only two places—Acton in the high jump and Morris in the broad jump—in the field payoff company. Three Bearcats—Neeley, Van DeCar and Gueck—placed in the low hurdles and observers predicted a 1-2-4 finish in the finals, a feat that would add 10 points to the Scottsbluff cause.

Omaha Tech might factor in the meet, but appeared on paper to be 10 points behind the two favorites. The same could be said for Omaha Central, and no other team is given even an outside chance of finishing on top.

Simmons Runs Fast Quarter.

Bob Simmons, University of Nebraska crack quarter-miler and Big Six conference champion in that event, was clocked in 48.9 running alone in an exhibition 440-yard sprint. Simmons' time was only one-tenth of a second higher than the school record, held jointly by Simmons and Bob Ostergaard.

Best individual qualifying performances were by Debus, who led the javelin and discus throwers in class A, as well as being second in the shot and tied for first in the pole vault, and by Louis St. Cyr, Winnebago, qualifier in five events in class C and Leonard Bornschlegl, Ohiowa, who placed in five spots in class D.

Boxers From Europe Defeat Yankee Team

CHICAGO, May 13—(INS)—A team of picked European fighters today held the international Golden Gloves boxing championship. They defeated a squad of middle-western stars, five bouts to three, at the Chicago stadium last night.

More than 20,000 fans jammed the arena for the program, which included eight reserve fights in addition to the championship matches.

It was the first time America's representatives had been defeated in international competition. Twice before in the eight-year history of the event, the foreign squad had tied for honors, but none had ever come out on top.

Italy's representatives won two titles, with fighters from Finland, Ireland and Sweden taking one each. The results:

112-pounds—Ollie Lethinen, Finland, beat Willie Moon, Chicago, (3).
118-pounds—Chester Ellis, Kansas City, beat Guido Nardecchia, Italy, (3).

LINKS AGAIN ON LOSING END 6-5

First Inning Errors Spot Cowboys Advantage Of Four Runs.

LADIES' NIGHT SATURDAY.

Saturday night will be ladies' night at Landis Field. The Links wind up the Sioux City series in a game starting at 8:30, but Boss "Pug" Griffin made no announcement of his pitching nominee. Norfolk moves in Sunday for an afternoon doubleheader. First game at 2 o'clock.

Shortstop Baker's single to center in the tenth, coupled with a walk to Schinski and an error by John Miller, Lincoln pitcher, spelled defeat for the Capital City Links in the second game of the Sioux City series Friday night at Landis Field. The Cowboys won by a 6-5 score.

Cowboys Cash In On Errors.

Sioux City punched across four runs in the first inning on four hits and errors by Kakoliris and McDaniel, and the slim crowd settled back without much hope. The Links plunged back into the ball game in the second, however, with a three-run splurge on walks to Hundley and McDaniel and hits by Flynn, Dillinger and Miller.

The Cowboys made it 5-3 in the fifth when Schinski's blow over the first-base bag drove in McCarron, but Boss Griffin's gang came back in the sixth as Miller walked, Dyke doubled and both scored on a sharp single to left by Kakoliris. It was quiet from that point until the tenth, except for a flurry in the ninth by the Cowboys which was halted when Dillinger tossed out McCarron for the final out.

Three double plays by the Iowans cut into Lincoln's scoring chances. Miller, making his first start for Lincoln, yielded only five hits after the first inning and deserved a better fate. He was sent here from Topeka of the Western Association. The socre:

Team Title In Golf Goes to Benson High

Omaha Benson took over team championship honors in the Nebraska high school golf tournament, played at Pioneers Friday, as Dick Morton, Emmet McAndrew and Bob Bigham combined their totals to card 475 for the low total. Omaha Central was second with 483 and Lincoln's threesome needed but one more stroke than did Central.

Nebraska City's entry was the only other team to edge in on the all-Omaha finish. South placed fifth, Creighton Prep sixth and Omaha North seventh.

Edward Ingram, Omaha South, snatched medalist honors away from Benson's Dick Morton, Charles Teel of Nebraska City and Jim Trail of Grand Island as he put a 78 and 76 together for a 154. The other three required two more strokes to complete their rounds. Ingram meets Morton and Teel faces Trail in matches today which will decide the individual title.

Omaha Grasps Lead In State Tennis Tilt

Play in the state high school tennis championships progressed through the quarter-finals at the Lincoln Tennis club courts Friday, with Omaha schools nearly edging out all competition from the matches. Havelock and Norfolk managed to be the only teams left in the double pairings in today's matches, while Creighton Prep, Omaha Benson, Central and Tech boasted of representatives in the singles.

Bob Evans and Peter Durland of Norfolk ousted Allen Granfield and Bob Selby of Omaha Central, while Havelock, defending doubles champions, set back George Shaneyfelt and Art Alden of Aurora. Bob DeBord and Bob Hulbert managed the win. Bill Malone and Chick McNurlin represented the Engineers when they won the title last year. The summary:

Harrington surprised the entire assemblage at the Muny diamonds Friday night by scoring an unexpected 6 to 1 win over the strong Lincoln Packing company team. O'Sheas remained in a tie for the Triple A leadership by whipping the Telephones, 5 to 1.

Pete Weiss worked another excellent game for Harrington's and allowed but six hits. He was in trouble only once—in the final frame when O'Sheas struck for its lone tally.

Ervin Bauer, on the mound for the Telephones, set down O'Sheas with only three safeties. Poor support in the field, however, resulted in his downfall. The scores:

Joe Louis Sits In At Ringside When Conn Gives Sol Krieger Neat Plastering.

By LAWTON CARVER.

NEW YORK, May 13—(INS)—Etched deeply into Joe Louis' memory today is an action picture of Billy Conn, the gangling, spindle-shanked young Irishman from Pittsburgh, who is unanimously picked as a potential challenger for the heavyweight championship a couple of years hence, and, moreover, picked by some as the one man with a chance of taking it away from Louis. Enthusiasm in behalf of Conn flared anew last night when he boxed and belted his way to a one-sided 12-round decision over Solly Krieger, the local boy who is recognized as middleweight champion everywhere but here.

Joe Louis At Ringside.

Visiting New York for a quiet celebration of his twenty-fifth birthday today, the brown bomber sat close to the ringside, watching Conn and Krieger as they danced and slugged through their battle, but he wasn't overly impressed. After all, Conn is just a light-heavyweight who made his fight against a middleweight last night, and he doesn't punch with much power yet either. And we don't say he will ever beat Louis.

Nevertheless, unless his growth suddenly is stunted to keep him from blossoming into a full-fledged heavy, Louis was watching the man he will have to get rid of one of these days.

Gunning For Bomber.

Conn previously had whipped Fred Apostoli of San Francisco, the New York commission middleweight champion, in two straight fights and in trouncing Krieger last night completed his conquest of the 160-pounders in his last fight among them.

He will campaign henceforward among the light-heavies, then move in among the big men—gunning for the bomber.

He weighed 170¼ pounds and held a 4¼-pound edge over Krieger, but the difference between them as fighters was somewhat wider than that. In fact, Krieger seldom in all his career ever before has been thwarted quite so decisively. It was a night of frustration for him from beginning to end, with but two interruptions. In the tenth round and again in the eleventh he planted a left hook in Conn's middle and all but jack-knifed him. But those were only two good punches.

Conn Wins In Walk.

Conn in the meantime, beginning with the first round and going right on through the twelfth, landed a hundred and won nine rounds, with two slow ones going to Krieger and the other being a draw. Krieger's best rounds were the second the seventh. Aside from that he just did the best he could and took a good shellacking for his efforts.

He was whipped at everything he tried. Out in the open, Conn feinted him to the point of exhaustion, then let him have it, generally with a one-two, a clean left hook followed by a stinging right cross, which at least twice spun Krieger and nearly dropped him. In close, Conn broke up Krieger's body punching with flurries of short uppercuts to the face.

BAN IS HUNG ON TEXAS SCHOOL

Border Conference Takes Action In Suspension Of Lubbock.

TUCSON, Ariz., May 13—(INS)—Texas Tech of Lubbock, one of the nation's most powerful 1938 football teams, was expelled today from the Border conference by unanimous vote.

Effective In June.

Date of the expulsion was made effective June 30 by faculty representatives of the conference whose meeting ended at 2 a. m. today. Reason was "repeated violation of eligibility regulations."

The application of another Texas school, Hardin-Simmons, was refused because of the conference's current "non-expansion policy."

After the meeting this morning, it was announced that the conference will enter into a contract with the Sun Carnival at El Paso, assuring conference representation in the annual New Year's day football battle.

Used Ineligible Players.

One of the charges against Texas Tech was that "Chief" Jones and Bobby Holmes, Haskell institute transfers, were put in the lineup against St. Mary's of California at the Cotton Bowl game in Dallas last Jan. 1. Tech officials had been warned the two players were ineligible prior to the game, it was stated.

Ousting of Tech from the Border conference will probably lose them the chance to get into the Southwest conference.
